“Doing the Trick” since 2008

The roots of our company were established by three entrepreneurial friends looking for ways to expand the market for the soybeans they were growing on their farms. While experimenting with clean biodiesel formulations, they unintentionally arrived at a quite different and unique product that exhibited some incredible qualities. They first noticed that this new liquid lubricated and crept into rusty cracks and crevices like nothing they had used before. Further testing and process refinements demonstrated a product that was not only non-toxic and non-flammable, but also aggressively dissolved traditional grease and tar. With help from the STAAR family of companies, this amazing product is now supplanting long established legacy alternatives by turning green product paradigms upside down.

From the humble beginnings of three friends working to feed their families, Trick Shot® Penetrating Lubricant® was born.
